Sir Robert Falconer,-

President of University of Toronto,
Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sir,-

Words fail me to express to you the heartfelt gratitude and appreciation of Mrs. Rosevear and myself for your letter of sympathy for the loss of our brave boy.

No expression, oral or written, has carried to our hearts quite so much of comfort and hope as your statement that his "sacrifice can never be lost", and that "something better is in store" for him.

Stanley was very proud to be counted among the thousands of ~~our~~ the best and bravest of our land who have gone out from 'Varsity' to do battle for the cause of decency and justice; and now that his name will stand on the Honor Roll among the names of those who have given all they had to give. I am proud that he was, for a year, a student at my old Alma Mater and a member of her Training Corps. He has, with many other brave and noble lads, brought great honor to his University, and as long as men recount the history of the war, their names will be remembered with reverence and love.

As you will see by the ~~card~~ print I am sending you (intended for private circulation among his friends only), I have taken the liberty of quoting your words of hope, and you may judge how much I value and appreciate them.

Again let me express the heartfelt gratitude of Mrs. Roseveare and myself for your congratulatory message to my boy and your words of sympathy to us.

Yours very sincerely,
H. S. Roseveare
